A BRIEF HISTORY OF THE SOUTH DAKOTA AIR NATIONAL GUARD

The South Dakota Air National Guard was founded by WWII Medal of Honor recipient and former Governor Joe Foss on September 20, 1946 in Sioux Falls with federal recognition of the 175th Fighter Squadron. The 175th was assigned to the 132nd Fighter Group, Des Moines, Iowa. The unit was equipped with the P-51 Mustang, in addition to several types of support aircraft.

The 175th was reassigned to the 133rd Fighter Interceptor Wing, Minnesota Air National Guard, along with units from Fargo, North Dakota and Minneapolis, Minnesota in November 1950. The unit was called to active duty on March 1, 1951 and moved to Ellsworth AFB, Rapid City, South Dakota to provide support for the B-36 bombers stationed there. The unit was returned to state control on December 1, 1952.

The squadron began transitioning to fighter jets in July 1954 with the F-94A/B. On April 16, 1956, the 175th Fighter Interceptor Squadron became part of the newly constituted 114th Fighter Interceptor Group, headquartered at Sioux Falls, South Dakota. The squadron flew the F-94C until 1958, when it transitioned to the F-89J. In 1960, the 114th Fighter Group was assigned to the 132nd Fighter Wing and equipped with the F-102. During the period of 1960 to 1970, the 114th Fighter Group distinguished itself with outstanding performance of the Air Defense mission. Aircraft were maintained on a five-minute alert throughout this period.

The 114th Fighter Group was redesignated as the Tactical Fighter Group in May 1970 and the F-102s were replaced with F-100Ds. The unit transitioned to the A7D in 1977. During the A7 era, the 114th Fighter Group was awarded four Air Force Outstanding Unit Awards and the Armed Forces Expeditionary Streamer for combat duty as part of Operation Just Cause in Panama during 1989-1990.

The 114th Tactical Fighter Group received the first of its F-16C/D fighters in August 1991 with the official conversion from the A-7 to the F-16 occurring on January 1, 1992. The unit was redesignated as the 114th Fighter Wing and became a part of the newly formed Air Combat Command on June 1, 1992. The 114th Fighter Wing made history as one of the first operational units in the Air National Guard to receive the F-16C Fighting Falcon.

The pilots of the 114th Fighter Wing have trained in many locales to include Panama, England, Germany, Korea, Belgium and Denmark. Their continuous, specialized training has been thoroughly utilized over the years. The unit has participated in Operation Provide Comfort, Coronet Nighthawk, Operation Northern Watch, Operation Southern Watch and Operation Iraqi Freedom in a wide variety of locations to include Kuwait, Netherlands Antilles, Saudi Arabia, Iraq, Turkey and Israel. Additionally, we participate in many deployments within the United States, supporting numerous missions and training exercises. Equipped with the F-16 Fighting Falcon, the men and the women of the unit stand ready to meet the global challenges of the future.

REQUIREMENTS AND QUALIFICATIONS

If you are an undergraduate, you must have completed at least 90 semester credit hours and will be required to have graduated no later than the spring term (May 2021). Failure to graduate on time will disqualify you from further UPT processing. Additionally, the following GPAs must be met:

- Be no more than 33 years old before 2 December 2023 and/or have no more than 8 years of commissioned services (normally you will start pilot training approximately one and a half years after the date of the board). Because of the processing lead times, we will not normally interview a candidate who is older than 31 ½ years old at the time the board meets.
- Meet the following medical standards:
  - Have distance vision of 20/70 or better, correctable to 20/20

SELECTION BOARD AND INTERVIEWING PROCESS

Pilot selection boards are held once a year. A board of fighter pilots will interview approximately 10 candidates. Applications will be screened upon receipt; incomplete applications will not be considered for an interview. SDANG unit members who apply will be guaranteed an interview the first time they apply. We typically receive over 60 application packages for 1-2 pilot slots; therefore, it is very competitive and many factors are taken into consideration when choosing candidates. The Board attempts to select those individuals who are most likely to succeed in pilot training and whose qualifications best fit the squadron's current needs.

The board will be held at the 114th Fighter Wing in Sioux Falls, SD. Interviews will be scheduled approximately one month in advance. Personnel who are selected for an interview will be contacted by telephone and sent hotel information and directions. Travel, lodging, meals and any other expenses associated with visits to the unit to complete the application and selection process are the responsibility of the candidate. If selected, all expenses associated with travel to Sioux Falls for processing purposes are also at your own expense until you are qualified for and enlisted as a member of the South Dakota Air National Guard.

Interviews may be held during the workweek or on a weekend. A typical interview would begin with board member introductions, an explanation of the application process, then questions from each board member. Prepare for this interview the same way you would for any job interview. Be prepared to give a general introduction of yourself to the Board. As questions are asked, the Board will most likely be looking for answers which show how you have handled a situation in the past (i.e., instead of simply stating that your strongest attribute is integrity, give examples of how you have demonstrated this attribute in a past situation). The Board will have reviewed all of the information in your application package. The Board is also trying to evaluate who is most likely to successfully complete pilot training and merge well with squadron members once they have returned from training. Relax and be yourself.

After the interview, the most qualified candidates will be contacted by telephone and offered a position with the SDANG. Out of dozens of applicants, only 1-2 people are selected each year to become an F-16 pilot with our unit. Selection as an alternate does not guarantee future selection for a training slot. If you are selected as an alternate, you will have to compete with all other applicants again on future selection boards if a UPT slot is not obtained this fiscal year.

If selected as a UPT Candidate, you will be required to report to Joe Foss Field to begin processing through the recruiting office. This will include the completion of a myriad of paperwork to include documentation for a Top Secret clearance investigation as well as an Air Force Class I flying physical. Once the physical is completed and approved by Guard Bureau, you will return to Joe Foss Field to enlist in the unit as a Staff Sergeant until you leave for training. Normally, you will go to the Officer Training School (OTS) within one year of selection and pilot training within one to two years following selection. Upon completion of OTS, you will be appointed to the rank of 2nd Lieutenant.

THE PILOT TRAINING PROCESS

If you are selected for Undergraduate Pilot Training, you can plan on spending approximately 3 years in some sort of formal military training, beginning approximately a year after your selection. Successful completion of this training requires dedication, long hours and strong support from your family. Your family should be fully aware of and prepared for this demanding period.

The table below lists the schools you will attend, their duration and their location(s). With the exception of OTS, we attempt to schedule all of the schools back-to-back. However, because of class schedules, you may have a break between periods of active duty while waiting for a school date. The time between schools could vary from a few days to a few weeks.

FLYING WITH THE 114TH FW AFTER PILOT TRAINING

Your service commitment to the Air Force and the Air National Guard is ten years from the date you graduate from Undergraduate Pilot Training. After you complete Formal Training Unit (FTU), you will begin home station training in an active duty pay status for approximately two years. This gives you time to continue practical application of your training, fine tune your flying skills and get comfortable with the jet and the unit before you revert to the status of a traditional guardsman.

An important thing to remember is that when you are selected for pilot training, you are hired as a traditional guardsman and should not anticipate full time employment after training. About 25% of unit membership is comprised of full-time employees. They are responsible for day-to-day operations and training for the “traditional” guard members. There are two full-time programs:

The Air Reserve Technician Program. Technicians are GS-13/14 members of the federal civil service and are required to maintain traditional membership as a military member of the unit (full-time civilian job + part-time military job).

The Active Guard/Reserve (AGR) Program. AGRs are full-time active duty military with the same pay, rules and benefits as active duty.

We have historically hired full-time employees from the unit’s pool of traditional members. Full-time employment is possible, but not likely until you have been with the unit for a length of time.

After your two year home station training period at Joe Foss Field, as you make the transition back into the civilian world, you will be required to fly a minimum number of flights per month. You should plan on working 6-9 days per month in Sioux Falls to fly and meet your monthly requirements (this allows for weather, maintenance and airspace problems). Keep in mind that the time commitment is definitely more than that expected of a ‘typical’ guardsman who works only one weekend a month and two weeks a year. We normally fly two times a day, morning and afternoon, four days of the week and one weekend out of each month. The daily flying schedule is flexible enough to work around your civilian career, but you need to submit your availability to the scheduler on a monthly basis.

In addition to home station flying, we deploy numerous times throughout the year. These deployments span the globe and include every type of flying we are qualified to do. You will be expected to deploy on most training deployments (typically 2-3 weeks), and on all operational deployments (30-90 days)

With the daily flying schedule and all of the deployments we participate in, you should not have any problem meeting your minimum number of flights each month.

It is important to keep all of the information in this section in mind as you make current and/or future employers aware of your requirements with the Air National Guard.

CURRENT PAY SCALE AND BENEFITS

The Military pay scale for the year can be found at the following website:

<https://www.dfas.mil/militarymembers/payentitlements/Pay-Tables/military-pay-charts.html>

- OTS (current rank or SSgt, whichever is higher)
- UPT, IFF, FTU & Survival School (as a 2nd Lieutenant)

During your training, you and your dependents will be covered by the military's health insurance (TRICARE); you will have the option to enroll, at your own expense, in a low cost program that provides dental coverage for your dependents.

THE AFOQT

The Air Force Officer Qualifying Test is similar to the ACT or SAT exam. Study guides are available at most bookstores and libraries. The scores of this test are a heavily weighed factor in the selection process. Therefore, it is strongly recommended that you prepare for this test. You may only take this test twice during your lifetime (i.e., if you are unhappy with your initial test scores, you are allowed to retest one time only). There must be at least 180 days between tests. The most recent test scores are the ones that are valid (i.e., if you test a second time and receive a lower score in an area, you may not use the test score from the first test). Testers will need to bring their ID card with them and expect 4.5 to 5 hours for the exam. To schedule an exam, contact any Air Force Recruiter. If you live near Sioux Falls, the 114th Fighter Wing recruiters can schedule the exam for you; call (605) 988-5718 or (800) 655-4430. Results should be submitted with your application package. This must be completed at least two weeks prior to taking the TBAS Test. Plan accordingly.

Minimum Required Scores for College Graduates:

Pilot 25 Navigator 10 Quantitative 10 Verbal 15

Pilot and Navigator added together must be equal to or greater than 50

Minimum Required Scores for Non-College Graduates:

Pilot 50 Navigator 25 Quantitative 25 Verbal 30

Pilot and Navigator added together must be equal to or greater than 90

THE TEST OF BASIC AVIATION SKILLS (TBAS)

The Test of Basic Aviation Skills (TBAS) consists of nine sub-tests that measure psychomotor skills and cognitive aptitude. Examinees are required to interact with the computer to provide their responses. TBAS scores are combined with the candidate's Air Force Officer Qualifying Test (AFOQT) and flying hours to produce a Pilot Candidate Selection Method (PCSM) score. The PCSM score provides a measure of a candidate's aptitude for pilot training. This is NOT a test you can study for. The score is on a scale of 1 – 99, with 99 being the best possible score. Private pilot licenses are not considered in the PCSM score. Candidates are allowed two attempts at the TBAS with a minimum of 180 days between attempts. For more information, visit the following website: <https://pcsm.aetc.af.mil>.

Complete the TBAS Candidate Worksheet (located on the pcsm web site), and bring it with you on the day of the test. You should also bring a valid form of identification, your Social Security Card, your current college transcript and your logbook if you have any flying experience. Examinees who fail to inform the test administrator of a previous TBAS administration will be permanently disqualified from consideration for the pilot training program. A complete list of TBAS testing locations can be found by downloading the PDF file at the following website. <http://access.afpc.af.mil/pcsm/mz/TBASLocations.html>. Locally, the TBAS is administered at the following locations:

Offutt AFB, Nebraska	POC: (402) 294-5716	education6@us.af.mil
ROTC Brookings, South Dakota	POC: (605) 688-6106
MEPS Sioux Falls, SD	Must go through recruiting who goes through ANG Liaison
MN ANG, Minneapolis, Minnesota	POC: (612) 713-2024/2038

PHYSICALS

Your Flying Class 1 physical will take 2-3 days starting on a Monday morning at 0700. You can expect to return Wednesday or Thursday of the same week.
